

IPSO CONGRESS PROGRAM

TUESDAY, JULY 29th (IPSO DAY)

9:00-10:30am - Opening Ceremony

10:45am-12:15pm - IPSO Paper Awards Presentation (Europe)

Chair: Ana Tofani

First-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "The Shifting Winds of Psychoanalysis: The Social in the Clinical"

Summary: As we examine the vicissitudes of a dangerous external world, and the vulnerabilities of the inner world, the clinic does not remain insulated. Exploring experiences of women patients and locating their (and our) suffering from a socio-historical perspective, can deepen their (and our) understanding of life's embeddedness in culture.

Presenter: Gunjan Chandak

Second-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "Questioning Psychoanalysis in Chaotic Times: Setting Sail or Reaching Shore"

Summary: In order for psychoanalysis to thrive, it must protect its culture, its freedom and the boundary between the external world and the internal world. If it is able to hold the line, it can offer a valuable cloister in these perilous and chaotic times.

Presenter: Eoghan Naughton

12:15-2:00pm - LUNCH (on your own)

2:00-3:30pm - IPSO Paper Awards Presentation (Latin America)

Chair: Gloria Blanco

First-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "The Place of "the adventure" in the Psychoanalysis of Our Times"

Summary: Reflecting on the relationship between psychoanalysis and the group mentality of present times, we should accept Miguel de Cervantes' invitation to undertake an "adventure" that questions the foundations of our beliefs, and leads us to revitalize the dying relationships we currently have with the great mysteries of human existence.

Presenter: Julio Galindo

Second-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "Dear Bruno. A Sexual Theory and the Reason for Existence."

Summary: Through the recounting of a session of a child's analysis, this is an exploration of death anxiety and the meaningfulness/meaninglessness of our existence, as well as the sexual theories of children about life and its link to death.

Presenter: Teresita Montiel

3:45 - 5:15pm - IPSO Paper Awards Presentation (North America)

Chair: Naira Vanyan

First-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "In-home Psychoanalysis with Consideration of the Frame for Child Analysis"

Summary: The frame is challenged when there is no private space for the session to take place at home, others may be present and participate in the session. With child psychoanalysis as a focus, this is an exploration on whether the core components of the analysis can happen under such circumstances.

Presenter: Noya Dekel

Second-Prize Winner

Paper Title: "The Dual Reality of Online Video Psychodynamic Psychotherapy: Connections and Limitations"

Summary: Whether it is psychodynamic therapy or couch psychoanalysis, people have started to get accustomed to psychological treatment through screens. This presentation attempts to elucidate the advantages and disadvantages of online video psychotherapy, while illustrating the necessity of in-person analysis through two case studies.

Presenter: Hang Li

5:30-7:00pm - OCAL-IPSO Paper Awards Presentation

Chair: Regina Peon

First-Prize Winner

Paper Title: “From Viral to Real: The “Hype” of Pop Psychology in Today's Masses”

Summary: The prevalence of technology has challenged our practice and the way psychoanalysis is being transmitted. The fantasy of omnipotence is enhanced by new technological developments that have an impact in the psyche of our patients and of us analysts in training. It is necessary to start discussing these topics, as our subjectivity is being constantly influenced by these new forms of communication and connection.

Presenter: Alejandra María Vargas Vázquez

Second-Prize Winner*

Paper Title: “A Convulsed World: The Influence of Intolerance and Fanaticism on the Development of Psychoanalytic Theories and its Impact on Modifications of the Method”

Summary: Fanaticism, war, discrimination and many other group and cultural phenomena surrounded the origins of the psychoanalytic method and its founder. These social conditions deeply influenced psychoanalytic thinking. With the world facing a growing series of conflicts that resemble what Freud observed a long time ago, we as analysts in training are called to reflect on the effects the current situation has on our practice.

Presenter: Rosabell Hercilia Rojas

*video presentation

THURSDAY, JULY 31st

11:30am-1:00pm - IPSO Supervision (Europe)

Chair: Bruce Laing

Analyst: Stefanie Sedlacek

Presenter: Ito Yukie

1:00-3:30pm - IPSO Lunch at Comptoir Parisien

4:15-5:45pm - IPSO Supervision (Latin America)

Chair: Valentina Sanchez Medina

Analyst: Monica Vorchheimer

Presenter: Danilo Djuric

6:00-7:30pm - IPSO Business Meeting

7:30-8:15pm - IPSO 50th Anniversary Cocktail

FRIDAY, AUGUST 1st

2:20-3:50pm - IPSO Supervision (North America)

Chair: Emily Frank

Analyst: Christine Anzieu-Premmereur

Presenter: Santiago Carballo

4:00-5:30pm - “Meet the Analyst” with Rui Aragão Oliveira

Chair: Aline Luca

Guest Analyst: Rui Aragão Oliveira

Interviewer: Atsumi Minamisawa

8:00pm-2:00am - IPSO Party at Fábrica do Braço

SATURDAY, AUGUST 2nd

11:00am-12:30pm - The Psychoanalyst’s Ineffable Encounter: Listening to the Transformative Potential of the Couple’s and Family’s Suffered Subjectivation

Chair: Marta Russo

Presenters: Ana Marques Lito and Elizabeth Palacios

Summary: In these extraordinary times of profound change and global fracture, alongside massive technological evolution, small groups such as couples and families increasingly become resonant chambers of trans-subjective dynamics, constantly interacting with external developments.

1:00-2:30pm - Case Presentation

Chair: Aykut Bora

Presenter: Udo Hock

Summary: Presenting case material from his practice, the analyst will discuss his technique and interventions. The format of this session is designed to offer candidates insight into the analyst's process.